

At any point the user can choose to exit the website or navigate to another page; this would initiate the end state.

